LIVING at KU

A look inside KU Student Housing
SIGN YOUR CONTRACT

Your options
- Private room, semi-private bath
- Double room, community bath
- Suite with semi-private bath
- Scholarship hall
- Apartment options for transfer and upperclass students

September 1
After you’re admitted and have your KU ID number and KU online ID, visit housing.ku.edu. Follow the instructions to sign a housing contract. Your contract date determines the order in which you select your room in the spring. Once you’ve signed a contract, you also may submit additional materials to apply for a scholarship hall. Scholarship halls involve a competitive selection based on academic merit, financial need, and commitment to the cooperative philosophy and diverse community. There is no fee to submit a contract, but cancellation fees will apply.

November 1
Student Housing begins an early review of scholarship hall applications. The last week of each month, selected residents are offered a place in the scholarship hall system. Offers continue throughout spring.

33 Visit Us, Checklist
In August, before your senior year in high school, visit housing.ku.edu.

Begin making decisions about room type and rate.

Plan to sign your contract as soon as you’re admitted. That puts you among the first to choose a room in the spring.

February
Returning residents select rooms in advance of incoming students.

March Scholarship Halls
Scholarship hall application initial deadline is March 1. If you don’t receive a fall offer you can be considered in spring.

March Residence Halls
New residents begin selecting rooms and roommates online. You may choose roommates or go “potluck.” If you have preferred roommates, all must sign housing contracts before selecting the room.

High School Juniors
In August, before your senior year in high school, visit housing.ku.edu.

Begin making decisions about room type and rate.

Plan to sign your contract as soon as you’re admitted. That puts you among the first to choose a room in the spring.
SUPPORTS FOR YOUR ACADEMIC SUCCESS

• Academic advisors, writing centers, and supplemental instruction are available where you live.

• Housing staff are among those who teach University 101. This two-credit seminar is an important foundation for academic success.

• Learning communities allow students to live and learn with others who share academic interests: firstyear.ku.edu/communities.

• Wireless internet is included in housing rate (40 megabits per second and four additional devices). Upgrade speed and number of devices at additional cost: myresnet.com.

VOICES OF EXPERIENCE

I love having people nearby so you can ask questions and study together.
What do students get?

- Help from staff with one-on-one academic planning and time management.
- RAs conduct “check-ins” with residents throughout the semester to help residents reach their goals.
- Roommate agreements establish expectations for living together.
- Activities that provide social connections and cultural competencies in a diverse, inclusive community.
- Research shows that students who live on campus at KU graduate in four years at a higher rate than students who live off campus.

Support

On-campus students participate in Student Housing’s residential curriculum, which is directly linked to KU’s academic mission. By living in the halls, students learn academic success skills and personal success strategies through a variety of passive and active opportunities. Topics include conflict management, good decision-making about drugs and alcohol, personal growth and self-advocacy.

In addition, the residential curriculum provides information about living in a diverse community and engaged civility at KU. The curriculum uses personalized interventions to help residents succeed. For example: Housing staff contacts residents who regularly skip classes or fail to enroll for the next term. In surveys, residents say they feel “cared for” and “have a social support network” provided by student housing staff.

Grades

On-campus residents get individual support and make better grades than other students.

Study areas are in every hall. Classrooms in which students receive supplemental instruction are featured in Daisy Hill Commons, Oliver, GSP and Templin residence halls.

Details at union.ku.edu/dining

• All Access. $4,290
• 14 Meals. $4,150
• 10 Meals. $3,584
• 50 Block. $425

Residence hall students may purchase the 50 block in addition to their 14 Meals or 10 Meals plan.

NOTE: A dining plan is required with a residence hall contract. Plans are optional for apartment residents.
Daisy Hill Commons, an academic service center that includes study rooms and classroom, is open to all residence hall students.
One convenient bill
The charge appears on your KU e-bill each semester. Your bill includes your combined housing and dining contract.

Affordability
KU residence hall rates are nearly $2,000 less per year than the national average for public schools, according to College Board.

Options
Increase your independence during your four-year college career by choosing from a variety of residence or scholarship hall options, then an on-campus apartment. You’ll always have the convenience of central location, affordability, security features, dining and more.

A green environment
Living cooperatively is ecologically sustainable. You don’t need a car — you can bike, walk or take a bus to class. Additionally, Student Housing and KU Dining reuse, reduce and recycle.

Convenient contracts
If you graduate mid-year or choose Study Abroad, for instance, we’ll adjust your contract.

Events and activities
We’ll help you get connected and engaged in the life of the university.

SECURITY IS A PRIORITY
- Residents must scan their KU Cards to enter their building
- Security cameras are mounted at all building entrances
- Health and safety checks are performed each semester
- Resident Assistants and professional staff live in all communities
- KU Public Safety officers patrol campus
- The annual security report about KU safety policies, crime statistics, and campus resources is available at ku.edu/safety
- KU’s meningitis vaccination policy for students living on campus is available at studenthealth.ku.edu
- Residents are responsible for reading and following policies in the Student Housing Handbook: housing.ku.edu/handbook

ADVANTAGES
Live on campus so you can focus on school (while we handle other important details)
VOICES OF EXPERIENCE

It’s possible to sleep in a little longer but I still don’t have to worry about being late for class.

VOICES OF EXPERIENCE
Living on campus helps me feel more connected to both my roommates and the larger KU community.

Mrs. E’s overlooks the beautiful KU campus. Your housing contract meets your combined housing and dining needs.
Students tell us that many college memories are made during mealtimes in their dining centers.

Great food is never far away — visit any of our 19 campus locations.

Residence hall students live near three all-you-care-to-eat dining centers (Mrs. E’s at Lewis Hall, North College Café in GSP Hall, and the new South Commons dining center) featuring a variety of choices.

All dining locations offer a wide variety, including vegan and vegetarian options. NetNutrition, our online nutrition analysis tool, is available at kudining.com.

KU dining also features The Studio, located in Hashinger Hall.

Across campus, students will find:

- Four retail cafes. Chick-Fil-A is at the Underground in Wescoe Hall and Sunflower BBQ Company is in the DeBruce Center’s Courtside Cafe.
- Five coffee shops featuring KC’s Roasterie Coffee.
- Five Jay Break snack bars.
- An award winning casual restaurant in the Kansas Union.

Dining Services accommodates special dietary needs and food allergies. For assistance, call the registered and licensed dietitian, 785-864-2424.
I can walk to Watson library and it’s close to my classes.
SCHOL HALLS

Live in the heart of the KU campus, and pay a lower housing rate in this academic community.

You’d be a great fit for a scholarship hall if:

• You’re looking for creative ways to fund your college living expenses.
• You’re a first-generation college student and diversity, collaboration, and a small community are important.

• You would welcome “student success” meetings to plan your academic program with graduate student mentors.

An outside scholarship is not required to live here. The “scholarship” is two-fold: Admittance is scholastically competitive and the lower rate in exchange for cooking or cleaning duties is a means of reducing college costs.

VOICES OF EXPERIENCE

I’m proud to call this place my home.

McCarthy’s half-court, off the lobby entrance.
As a returning resident, you’ll have first choice of three apartment complexes operated by KU Student Housing — the new 708-bed Stouffer Place, Jayhawker Towers near Daisy Hill, or McCarthy Hall.

You could be among the first residents to choose the brand-new Stouffer Place Apartments available in 2018. The new apartments will have private bedrooms with private bathrooms, dishwasher and washer-dryer in each unit.

The three apartment complexes all have on-site professional staff, wireless internet, utilities included in your rate, laundry facility and optional dining plans.

INDEPENDENCE

After your first year, stay on campus in an apartment for privacy, convenience and location.

Jayhawker Towers, in KU’s Central District, is popular with returning residents, who are first in line to choose them.
• 708 residents, single upperclass and graduate students
• Private bed and private bath
• Full kitchen with dishwasher; washer and dryer
• Furnished with double bed, dresser, desk and chair for each resident; residents provide living room furniture

The name for this brand-new complex, which opens in 2018, honors Ellis B. Stouffer, who was a KU administrator for 41 years. The Stouffer Place name is a nod to the previous apartment complex at that location.
- Two-bedroom, one-bath apartment shared by two or four residents
- Four towers house 750 single students, nontraditional and transfer students
- Opened as private apartments in 1969; purchased by KU in 1981; Towers A and D renovated 2009, 2010
• 38 residents, all men
• Apartments are two bedroom, one bath, or four bedroom, two bath
• Common areas include living room, kitchen, study rooms, media room and outdoor deck
• Opened in 2015

McCarthy apartments serve upperclass men and are also tailored to provide for the specific needs of KU men’s basketball scholarship athletes.

Located near Allen Fieldhouse, Ambler Student Recreation Fitness Center, and Hoglund Ballpark, this three-story building is also near academic services common to upperclass students, including the Schools of Business, Music, Law and Engineering.
