

COVID Policy Addendum

KU Student Housing has established additional guidelines, processes, and policies due to COVID-19 in order to maintain the health of the individual residents, community, staff, and the safety of our facilities.

We expect all members of the KU Student Housing community – residents, staff and guests (when permitted) – to act in a manner that demonstrates respect and consideration for those around them, including respect and consideration for the health and safety of all community members.

Residential students are required to comply with health and safety laws, orders, ordinances, regulations and health and safety guidance adopted by the University of Kansas and/or KU Student Housing as it relates to public health crises, including COVID-19. This guidance will evolve as the public health crisis evolves and may include, but is not limited to, social distancing, limitations on mass gatherings, wearing a face covering, COVID-19 diagnostic and surveillance testing (including before or upon arrival to campus), contact tracing, disinfection protocols, limitations on guests in KU Student Housing facilities, and quarantine / isolation requirements (including before or upon arrival to campus). Adherence to health and safety requirements applies to all residents, staff and visitors and extends to all aspects of residential life, including bedrooms, bathrooms, community kitchens, lounges, computer rooms, courtyards and other common spaces.

The University reserves the right to terminate the resident's contract due to emergency needs or other occurrence beyond the reasonable control of the university. In the event the University terminates this contract due to any act, order, regulation, or request of any governmental authority or agency or other occurrences including, but not limited to, natural disasters, floods, fires, tornadoes, riots, epidemics, pandemics or quarantines, the University will offer fair and reasonable credits of fees paid by impacted residents as appropriate and based on information available at that time. If the university invokes these force majeure rights the university will notify the impacted residents as soon as practicable.

Due to COVID, residents and guests of residents must adhere to the following policies:

1. Face Covering
 - a. Residents and guests must wear a face covering when in the building and outside of their assigned space. This includes when in common spaces (defined below). A face covering is any cloth that fully covers both the nose and mouth.
 - b. Residents must wear a face covering inside their assigned space when anyone needs to enter their space who is not a resident of the space. This includes Student Housing staff, Facility staff, and other university personal.
2. Desk and Staff Safety

Residents and guests have a responsibility to engage with the front desk and front desk staff in a way that minimizes risk. This includes, but is not limited to: maintaining a 6 foot distance from the desk whenever possible, minimizing physical contact, and being efficient with the interaction. Time at the front desk should be kept to a minimum and only occur when business needs to be conducted. Additionally, if desk staff make a reasonable request pertaining to health and safety efforts related to COVID, it is expected that residents will comply.

Residents are required to wear a face covering when interacting with staff in person regardless of location

3. Room/suite/apartment door to hallways

Residents must keep the room, suite, or apartment door which leads to building hallways closed except for when being used to enter or exit the resident's contracted space

- Doors within a private contracted space (bedroom doors within a suite or apartment) may be left open if all residents agree.

4. Quarantine and Isolation space

At any time, the University may require a resident to leave a specific building or KU Student Housing as a whole, when that resident's continued presence in the housing community poses a health or safety risk for themselves or community members.

When spaces are available, KU Student Housing will reassign the resident to quarantine or isolate as directed by medical professionals, the University, or other qualified authority. Residents are required to comply with requests from KU Student Housing to leave their current space due to COVID or other public health emergencies, and failure to do so is a violation of the KU Student Housing Handbook and may subject the student to emergency removal from their assigned space.

Removal from KU Student Housing to isolate or quarantine does not constitute a termination of a residential student's housing contract.

- a. Relocating to quarantine/isolation space - If housing staff communicate that you must relocate from your original housing assignment to a new housing assignment in order to quarantine, you must comply with this request.
- b. Remaining in original assignment to quarantine/isolate – If housing staff communicate that you must remain in your original housing assignment in order to quarantine or isolate, you must comply with this request.
- c. Leaving space –
 - When in quarantine, residents may only leave their designated quarantine space to respond to emergency procedures or in order to perform essential functions. Essential functions include, but are not limited to: getting food, going outside to exercise while socially distancing, doing laundry, etc.
 - When in isolation, residents may only leave their designated isolation space to respond to emergency procedures or for medical appointments.
- d. Guests – Residents in quarantine/isolation may not host guests, including family members

- e. Face Covering – Residents in isolation/quarantine must wear a face covering whenever they must open their private door to common spaces in order to perform essential functions. Residents must also wear a face covering or move to a private room if any staff enter the space (e.g., to perform maintenance).

KU Student Housing Policies, and Adjudication Processes

KU Student Housing has a variety of policies that aim to develop student learning, keep housing facilities in proper working condition, and most importantly, promote safety for our residents. These policies are informed by a variety of things, including: local, state, and national laws, national organizations that provide guidance to the field of higher education (ACUHO-I, ACPA, NASPA, and ASCA), and best practices. KU Student Housing's mission of "building learning-centered communities through individual support and respect", along with our residential curriculum and social justice focus, inform the way KU Student Housing staff document and adjudicate potential policy violations.

Residents are responsible for the following policies while contracted residents with KU Student Housing

HEALTH & WELLNESS

KU Student Housing honors KU's Amnesty Policy which encourages students to report medical emergencies. The Amnesty Policy can be found here:

<https://policy.ku.edu/student-affairs/amnesty>.

Alcohol

The possession, use, manufacture, or distribution of alcohol in or surrounding Student Housing facilities or activities is prohibited. Cereal malt beverages and alcoholic liquor (this includes all alcoholic beverages such as beer, wine, energy drinks with alcohol, etc.) may not be brought into or consumed in educational buildings or in university student housing facilities. This regulation pertains to any person, regardless of age, student status, or position within or outside of the university setting. There is an exception to this prohibition on possession and use of alcohol for persons of legal drinking age, who possess and consume alcohol in an amount consistent with personal consumption, in the confines of individual apartments in Jayhawker Towers, McCarthy Hall, Stouffer Place, and Sunflower Apartments. Kansas law 13 Housing Handbook L/R 4/18 prohibits providing alcohol to guests under the age of 21. Adults charged with a violation of the hosting law face penalties under the law and University policy. Consistent with the policy permitting possession only for the purposes of personal consumption, alcohol containers in excess of one liter, including kegs and party balls, are prohibited in all Student Housing facilities.

All who are present or are a party to an alcohol policy violation will be subject to further action under the university and housing conduct process regardless of their participation level. The irresponsible use or misuse of alcohol by any resident, whether or not of legal drinking age, and any inappropriate behaviors that results from consumption of alcohol, including the ability to exercise care for one's own safety or the safety of others due in whole or in part to alcohol consumption, is considered a violation of the housing and university alcohol policy. Being under the influence of alcohol, even when the use of alcohol is permitted by University policy, is not an excuse for misconduct or failing to follow university and housing rules and policies. If needed for religious or cultural practices, please meet with the staff in your building to discuss an exception

In addition, the following are prohibited:

- Hosting a gathering where alcohol is consumed by minors is prohibited.
- Participating in high-risk alcohol consumption is prohibited. Examples include, but are not limited to, kegs or significant amounts of alcohol, beer pong, flip cup, and/or other drinking games, inability to function without assistance, incoherence, disorientedness, unconsciousness, loss of control of bodily functions, community disruption, and/or endangering self and/or others.
- Possessing devices to rapidly consume alcohol is prohibited. Examples include, but are not limited to, beer bongs and funnels.
- Containers once containing any alcoholic beverage are prohibited in the residence halls and scholarship halls. This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, beer cans or bottles, liquor bottles, wine bottles, kegs, funnels, beer bongs, and/or flasks. Discovery of an alcoholic beverage container or other alcohol paraphernalia will require immediate discarding of the item, container and contents, if any, in the presence of a staff member.

Drugs

The illegal possession, illegal or inappropriate use, or presence of drugs is prohibited. Policy violations include, but are not limited to:

- Possession and/or use of drugs and/or controlled substances is prohibited. Examples include, but are not limited to, inhaling, injecting, or ingesting.

Total electrical usage should not exceed that which can be provided by one surge protector strip per outlet and should not overload, short, or create line disturbances.

STUDENT HOUSING CONDUCT PROCESSES

Overview

Student Housing partners with the office of Student Conduct and Community Standards in order to adjudicate non-academic misconduct. The two offices share cases through the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and the Student Housing handbook. Both offices aim to enact an educational process.

Misconduct is addressed through sanctions and referrals for after care and on-campus resources. In determining sanctions and referrals, the hearing officer will consider what educational opportunities exist, what harm has been caused, and what resources could be beneficial for the resident to explore.

Students who live on campus become part of a community of diverse individuals. When each student assumes responsibility as a member of the residential community, everyone benefits. To ensure that residents can exercise their rights as individuals without unduly infringing on the rights of others, certain basic policies and procedures have been established to facilitate mutual respect and consideration among community members. Cooperation is essential to developing an environment of mutual respect and support.

Determining Student Housing Policies

When determining and creating policies, KU Student Housing considered three main areas:

- 1. Residents should abide by local, state, and federal laws and should abide by university policies and regulations.

Residents are expected to abide by the University of Kansas Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and all city, state, and federal laws. Conduct must also be consistent with policies outlined in the Student Housing Contract and Housing Handbook. These regulations, together with the rules of the University of Kansas governing bodies relating to student conduct (e.g. University Senate and the Student Housing Advisory Board), and generally accepted standards of social behavior, are part of the agreement to live here.

- 2. Residents should show respect for all individuals in their community.

Successful group living can be achieved only through the cooperative effort of each resident. Each resident must be aware of their rights and privileges and equally aware of the rights and privileges of others. Each resident can expect their rights will be respected and, in a similar manner, each resident must avoid infringing on the rights of others.

- 3. Residents should be mindful of personal safety.

Residents should keep in mind that neglecting personal safety can, and often does, have an impact on other residents and staff. Each resident is a part of a larger community. Residents are advised to be mindful of the implications of their personal choices on that community.

Rules & Regulations

The aforementioned policies is a partial list of activities, which under current contract guidelines, are considered policy violations by KU Student Housing and will result in student-conduct action. The rules and regulations of the university and KU Student Housing include, but are not limited to those enumerated below and:

- Student Housing Contract Terms
- The Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities
- Parking Regulations: parking.ku.edu
- KU Policy Library: <http://www.policy.ku.edu>

The Student Housing Conduct Process

The following principles are fundamental to the Student Housing conduct process:

- 1) Each student's experience is unique, and each student should be treated as an individual.
- 2) The conduct process encourages student learning through self-reflection, educational discussion, sanctioning and exercising student rights and responsibilities.
- 3) The process fosters student learning, accountability and personal and social responsibility, aiming to prepare students for successful citizenship within KU and the world around them.
- 4) The process strives to be restorative and educational, repairing harm when possible and returning feelings of dignity, self-worth, security, and confidence for students and their community, through outcomes that are restorative and developmental.
- 5) All students have a right to privacy, to information relevant to their conduct case, to receive timely and thorough notice of concerns, to be heard by an objective party, and to have the opportunity for an appeal.

Outline of the Process

- 1) Incident Reports: Incident reports are informational documentation of a staff member's perspective of the incident in question.

Once submitted by a staff member, incident reports are automatically forwarded to the community's Complex Director. The Complex Director reviews the report and determines whether to schedule a hearing. The Complex Director assigns the hearing to a student housing staff member who will serve as the impartial hearing officer. KU Student Housing staff members who are trained to serve as impartial hearing officers include: Assistant Complex Directors and Scholarship Hall Directors, Complex Directors, Assistant Directors for Residence Life and the Associate Director for Residence Life. Additionally, the Associate Director for Residence Life oversees the process as a whole.

- 2) Hearing Notification: A hearing notification is when a hearing officer sends communication to a resident that a conduct hearing will be necessary to discuss and resolve an incident.

If a resident is documented for allegedly violating a policy, the resident is sent a hearing notification to their KU e-mail address. The notification contains the alleged policy violations, the date, time and location of the hearing, and hearing officer's name, contact information, and any other pertinent information. If the resident cannot attend the hearing at the time scheduled, the resident must contact the hearing officer to reschedule. Hearings are typically scheduled with reference to a resident's academic schedule.

- 3) Hearing: A hearing is when the hearing officer and resident meet to discuss the incident in question.

Student Housing conduct hearings are administrative. Each resident thought to be involved in said incident will meet individually with the hearing officer. During the hearing, the resident and the hearing officer will review the resident's rights, process, incident report, and the policies involved. The hearing officer listens to the resident's explanation and asks questions to collect additional information before making a decision on each policy in question. The hearing officer will also seek to clarify any misunderstandings about the involved policies, the resident's role in the community, and the impact the incident had on the community.

- 4) Hearing summary: A hearing summary is a notification sent by the hearing officer with their decisions from the hearing.

After a hearing, the hearing officer will decide the resident's responsibility for the policy violation/s and their status with KU Student Housing. If the resident is found responsible for a violation, the hearing officer will assign appropriate sanction/s. All sanctions must be completed by the deadline or further disciplinary action may result. Students with incomplete sanctions will have an administrative hold placed on their university account. This hold will prevent students from conducting specific university business, such as enrolling in classes for upcoming semesters. A hearing summary letter will be sent to the resident's KU e-mail address.

- 5) Appeal: An appeal is when a resident exercises their right to contest the hearing officer's decision based on specific reasons.

Residents have the right to appeal a hearing decision and must do so in writing within five working days of the decision being communicated. Each hearing summary letter contains the name and contact information for the appeal officer.

Appeals may be submitted and reviewed for these reasons only:

- 1) proper procedures have not been followed;
- 2) the resident believes the sanction is excessive given the violation; or
- 3) the resident has obtained new relevant information not available at the time of the hearing.

The resident should send a written letter of explanation by campus mail or e-mail to the appeal officer to initiate the appeal.

Conflict Resolution

If all persons personally and directly affected by the conflict agree to resolve the complaint through an alternative conflict resolution (ACR) process (i.e. mediation, restorative justice), and the hearing officer believes that the alternative conflict resolution process is an appropriate form of resolution, then the hearing officer will make arrangements for the alternative conflict resolution. Alternative conflict resolution is not appropriate for all complaints; namely, sexual harassment and certain complaints of violence. ACR is a voluntary process that may or may not result in an agreement. If an agreement is reached by the parties involved, the case is resolved and parties are responsible for completing any agreed-upon sanctions. If an alternative conflict resolution agreement is not reached or upheld, the complaint will be referred to an administrative hearing.

Sanctions

Incidents vary in seriousness. The intent of sanctions is to be restorative and educational. Factors considered when determining sanctions are: the level of harm to self or others, degree of disruption, damage to facilities, repeated or pattern of behavior, the totality of conduct record, and more. When a resident has been advised that they violated a policy, it is expected the resident stop the behavior and that the violation will not be repeated. If a specific policy violation is repeated, or a pattern of policy violations develop or multiple policies are violated, the resident may expect stronger sanctions, including, but not limited to contract cancellation. If a contract is cancelled as a result of violations, charges listed in the contract cancellation schedule will be applied. Failure to complete sanctions by the assigned due date may result in further conduct action, a hold on the student's account, and/or contract termination. A hold on a student's account will prevent the student from engaging in certain university business, such as future enrollment or making records requests until the sanction is complete.

Possible sanctions:

Accountability sanctions – Accountability sanctions are sanctions that impact a student's status in KU Student Housing. When a student has an active accountability sanction/status, their ability to engage in some university activities may be impacted (e.g., being hired as a Student Housing staff member).

- Notice of Concern: A Notice of Concern is a letter hearing officers use to address minor violations of Student Housing policies (i.e., minor maintenance, health, and safety concerns). The letter will be sent to the resident's KU email address and document how and when the issue was discovered and corrected. Residents will be notified when staff will return to ensure compliance with the request.
- Warning: A warning is a sanction that communicates continued or escalated behavior against Housing Policies will likely result in escalated sanctions. No action from the resident is needed.
- Conditional Standing: Conditional Standing is a sanction that may require the resident to participate in an educational sanction and/or refrain from particular behaviors during the duration of the contract period. This status is often limited to a specified time period.
- Probation: Probation is a sanction that communicates to the resident that if they continue to violate Student Housing policy, Student Housing will likely cancel the resident's housing contract. If a contract is cancelled by Student Housing due to a resident's misconduct, the resident will be responsible for all fees associated to the original student contract.

- Room or Hall Reassignment: A resident may be reassigned to another room or another hall when the offense is harassment, assault, battery, mistreatment of staff, or the resident's behavior is determined to be disruptive to the community.
- Interim Suspension: Under the terms of the Student Housing contract, "A housing contract may be immediately suspended and the resident required to vacate the premises when circumstances indicate that the resident's continued presence in the living unit may constitute danger, or threat of danger to property, the resident, or others in the housing system. Housing contracts of residents who are arrested for alleged criminal acts or against whom criminal charges are pending may be suspended under this policy." Residents will be asked to leave the facility immediately. Residents will be given the date and time of a hearing to take place within five class days, during which the resident may demonstrate why his or her continued presence in the housing unit does not constitute a danger, or threat of danger to others, the resident, or property".
- Removal from Housing: During finals, students who cause significant disruption may be asked to vacate the hall pending a hearing with a KU Student Housing assistant director
- Contract Cancellation: Residents who pose a risk of harm to themselves, other residents, property or continue to violate policies after being placed on probation may have their contract terminated. Further, residents whose contracts are canceled may be liable for the full contract cost if their contract is cancelled in this manner. If a contract is cancelled for violation of a policy, the student may not reapply for student housing for a period of one calendar year from the end of the contract period in which the cancellation was effective.

Educational sanctions - Educational sanctions are sanctions intended to educate the resident on a topical area. Often, but not always, the educational sanction will directly address the policy violation. Exceptions to this include, but are not limited to, the hearing officer assigning educational sanctions on something that was discussed in the hearing, but not part of the actual case. Some examples of common educational sanctions include, but are not limited to:

- Hawk Habits – Hawk Habits is a partnership between KU Student Housing and the Health Education and Resource Office (HERO) that addresses alcohol and drug use and education.
 - Fees are charged to the resident for the costs associated with these programs.
- Reflection papers – reflection papers are used to help the resident reflect on the incident, their behaviors, the policy, or other relevant themes.
- Campus partner connections – meeting with campus partners to learn more about services and resources

Restitution sanctions – Restitution sanctions are sanctions that result in an amount billed to the resident due to the resident's actions which caused damage to property.

- Financial Restitution - Housing: In situations where damage has occurred to university property or there are clean-up, repair or replacement costs, a resident may be required to pay for the costs incurred.
- Financial Restitution - Student: In situations where a resident has violated a Student Housing or university policy and there are clean-up, repair or replacement costs to another student or the guest, a resident may be required to pay for the costs incurred.

It is important to note that additional systems which the resident lives under while a resident (I.e., Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, state, and national laws), may also levy charges depending upon the severity of the situation. KU Student Housing may adjudicate situations under the terms of the Student Housing contract even when there are judicial decisions pending from other entities.

PARENT NOTIFICATION POLICY

Students under the age of 21:

The University of Kansas will implement the following parental notification provision of the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act: 34 CFR 99.31(a)(15)(i):

The disclosure is to a parent of a student at an institution of postsecondary education regarding the student's violation of any federal, state, or local law, or of any rule or policy of the institution, governing the use or possession of alcohol or a controlled substance if

- A. The institution determines that the student has committed a disciplinary violation with respect to that use or possession; and
- B. The student is under the age of 21 at the time of the disclosure to the parent.

Specifically, when the University of Kansas has knowledge of a student's alcohol consumption or drug use under the circumstances described below, the University of Kansas will notify the parent/legal guardian of a student enrolled on the Lawrence campus who is under 21 years of age. Initial notifications may be telephonic, but all notifications will be followed up with a written notification.

- Following the first known violation of university policy or state law regarding drugs.
- Following the first known violation of university policy or state law regarding alcohol, when the suspected use of alcohol has
 - a. placed the student in a life-threatening situation as determined by an attending medical professional or reasonably determined by the Vice Provost for Student Affairs or designee.
 - b. caused the student to be in a physical or mental state that has prompted intervention by university personnel, police, or medical personnel out of concern for the student's wellbeing or to address the student's conduct.
 - c. endangered the health or welfare of another person, including any report by police of arrest for driving on campus under the influence of alcohol.
- Following the second known violation of university policy or state law regarding alcohol.
- Following a violation of university policy or state law regarding alcohol or other drugs that results in the cancellation of the student's university housing contract.

All students, regardless of age:

In addition, the University of Kansas will notify the parent/legal guardian of any student enrolled on the Lawrence campus, regardless of age, when the student's suspected alcohol or drug use has placed the health or safety of the student or others in danger and notification is necessary to protect the health or safety of the student or other individuals. This notification will be made by telephone and follow-up will be made in writing. View full version of this policy, including updates approved after publication of this document.

CAMPUS POLICE NOTIFICATION AND RESPONSE

Overview:

KU Public Safety Office (KUPSO) is the responding police agency for the University of Kansas buildings and property. At times, Student Housing staff procedures dictate calling KU Public Safety Office (KUPSO) (a police unit) to assist in responding to incidents. KUPSO may also be present in the building when not initiated by staff to address safety and community concerns.

Additionally, KUPSO will respond to incidents in parking facilities across campus, including those near housing facilities. KUPSO also enters KU Student Housing space to engage with staff, attempt to build community, and facilitate educational programs.

Residents should anticipate a response from KUPSO in the following situations: Illegal Substances, Wellness Checks, Community Damages, Active Violence, Community Threat. Residents are also able to call KUPSO as they wish to report: theft, crimes, violence, assaults, threats, damage to property, and other reasons, as needed.

SPECIAL DISCIPLINARY BOARDS

Scholarship Hall Judicial Boards

Students living in a scholarship hall agree to take on the responsibility of cooking and cleaning in the hall and participating in hall governance and operations. Residents who fail to meet their aforementioned scholarship hall specific obligations go before the hall judicial board, comprised of the resident's peers. The chair is the hall's vice president or designee. The scholarship hall director is the board advisor. Residents appearing before the board may explain their situation and dispute the charges. Residents who are found responsible for failing to complete a duty in the hall five times or more face probable removal from the scholarship hall community. The resident may appeal the board's findings to the complex director or assistant director. Residents who fail to complete Scholarship Hall judicial board sanctions will be subject to a student conduct hearing.

Expectations Regarding a Resident's Living Space.

Residents are responsible for knowing the following information. Conduct action may be taken if residents engage with the facilities in a way that damages or compromises the facilities or community in any way.

Please see the policy "Violation of or Failure to Follow Policies or Regulation" for more information.

Care of University Property/Damage

The resident is responsible for keeping university owned equipment and furnishings in good, clean, and working condition. Residents should carry personal property and liability insurance. Insurance carried by KU Student Housing covers university property only. The University of Kansas assumes no responsibility for losses or damages of any sort occurring to property or persons in university residential facilities.

Students will be held financially responsible for any damages, lost property, or unusual service or repair to their rooms caused by accident, neglect, or intent. When more than one resident occupies the same room and responsibility for damage cannot be ascertained by KU Student Housing, costs will be assessed and divided equally among the room's residents.

Residents are responsible for reviewing their contracted space for damages, submit service requests to repair damages, and report ongoing facility issues to KU Student Housing staff.

Residents also are liable for any and all damage caused by a guest during the course of a visit.

Service Requests

KU Facilities Services staff members will make repairs in your room or apartment. Please report issues promptly. You may submit a work request online at www.facilities.ku.edu or consult with a Student Housing staff member. To complete the online form, use your KU online ID and password.

Standard Maintenance

Submitting a work request gives Facilities Services staff permission to enter your space to inspect or correct the issue. You can expect that staff members will knock and announce themselves before entry. You can also expect to receive notification that they have been in your room. When the work request is complete, a notification will be sent to the submitter of the request.

Emergency Maintenance

Maintenance emergencies should be reported to the building front desk or Student Housing Staff immediately. Facilities Services may be available to respond to emergencies outside of business hours upon request. Facility emergencies are defined as: any malfunction of life and safety equipment (I.e., discharged fire extinguisher, non-functioning smoke detector, door lock, window lock, heat/air conditioning, appliance malfunction, etc.), malfunction of property to the extent that performing essential functions is impossible (clogged toilet in private bathroom, etc.), or malfunction of property that if not addressed, would cause damage to the facilities (pipe leaks, broken tile or cracked grout, ceiling or wall leaks, etc.)

Pest Control

All residents should take a role in pest prevention by keeping their space clean. Wash dishes and utensils immediately after using. Store foods properly, dispose of trash properly, and report pests immediately.

Routine pest control service is conducted once a month for Jayhawker Towers, McCarthy Hall, and Stouffer Place Apartments. Participation in pest control for these areas is mandatory. Additional pest control treatment may be necessary. KU Student Housing will send a notice to the resident's KU email prior to any service taking place.

All Student Housing residents may request non-routine pest control as needed. To request non-routine pest control, submit a service request and a member of Student Housing or Facility Services will contact you. Residents will receive instruction for preparing their space for the pest control treatment. It is expected that resident apartments are ready to receive non-routine treatment as per the instructions they are given.

Routine Health and Safety Inspections

For the health, safety, and security of residents' rooms and possessions, KU Student Housing Staff members will (with advance notice of at least 24 hours) enter residents' rooms on specific occasions.

The purpose of entering residents' rooms on these occasions is a health and safety check. No search will be done. The staff has been specially advised of this information. Clear violations of law, University regulations, or of hall policy, which are in plain view will be noted and called to the attention of the proper authorities, including law enforcement.

Students' rights to privacy are guaranteed as part of the "Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities" which states:

Article 19. Students have the same rights of privacy as any other person and surrender none of these rights by becoming members of the academic community. These rights of privacy extend to those living in University Housing. Nothing in the institutional relationship or University housing contract shall expressly or by implication give the institution or University officials authority to consent to a search of a student's room by police or other government officials. When the institution seeks access to a student's living quarters in any facility operated by KU Student Housing to determine compliance with provisions of applicable multiple dwelling unit laws or for improvement or repairs, the occupant shall be notified of any such action not less than twenty-four hours in advance. There may be entry without notice in emergencies where imminent danger to life, safety, health, or property is reasonably feared.

Amenities

Laundry

Washers and dryers are available in each hall. Laundry facilities may only be used by contracted residents in university housing. Use high-efficiency laundry soap, preferably pre-measured individual single-dose packets. Courtesy should be exercised by all residents since many people share these machines. Do not leave laundry unattended. Any theft should be reported to the building front desk and KU Public Safety. KU Student Housing is not responsible for damaged, lost, or stolen property.

Recycling/Trash Disposal

Recycling and trash receptacles are provided on the floors of residence and scholarship halls as well as McCarthy Hall. Large items should be taken to the hall dumpster. At Jayhawker Towers, place garbage in plastic bags. Close them securely and dispose of them in the trash and recycling rooms located on the lower levels of the building. At Stouffer Place Apartments, all garbage must be sealed in plastic bags and deposited in the dumpsters near the buildings. Residents in any living unit may be charged for the improper disposal of trash.

Internet Connection and Cable

Data and cable services are provided to on-campus students through a service provider (Apogee), at www.myresnet.com. Residents only need to connect their equipment through the website to obtain service. A registration process is required for the data connection. All students seeking direct connection to the campus network must register online through myresnet.com. The Apogee 24- hour customer service number is 1-855-643-2149.

Residents must refrain from engaging in any activity that will violate any Student Housing policy, Student Code of Rights and Responsibilities, or any law.

Air conditioning/Heating

All Student Housing facilities are adequately and appropriately heated and cooled. Unless provided by Student Housing, no space heaters or window air conditioning units are permitted. In some buildings students control their room/suite thermostats. In buildings where that is not possible, staff members consult a 5-7 day weather forecast to determine when a transition from heating to cooling, or cooling to heating will take place. Upon changing, a building may take up to three days to regulate to the new system and temperatures. Fan coil units in each room distribute warm or cool air. Residents can control the fan speed, however residents do not have full control over the temperature. Some residents have attempted to warm/cool the air in their rooms by opening windows. We advise against this because it may result in condensation in your room, and thus create bacteria.

If you believe your room is excessively warm or cold, submit a service request to facility staff to evaluate.

Personalization of Contracted Space

Residents are not permitted to make modifications—whether structural, electrical, or plumbing—to the facilities, nor to attempt any construction or remodeling, no matter how minor. No furniture may be removed from residents' rooms, including double rooms as singles.

Residents are not allowed to decorate any wall or other surface with paint, wallpaper, paneling, or contact paper. If you believe walls need repainting, complete a service request. If facility staff determine such work is needed, it can be scheduled.

Residents who wish to personalize their rooms must exercise good judgment to ensure their personal safety as well as the safety of others living in the community. The following guidelines should be followed:

1. Construction, decoration, or arrangement of furnishings in a manner that hinders easy exit from a room is not permitted. No obstacle should prevent a door from completely opening. The arrangement of the room furnishings must not require KU Facilities Services or roommates to lift or move heavy furniture in order to work on equipment or exit the room.
2. Excessive amounts of flammable material should not be kept.
3. Decorative items (including but not limited to cloth, fish netting, paper, parachutes, or any other highly combustible material) may not be hung from the ceiling or from other overhead room structures (including but not limited to sprinklers, pipes, and smoke detectors).
4. Open flame decorations (i.e. candles, oil lamps, and incense) are prohibited. If needed for religious or cultural practices, please meet with the staff in your building to discuss an exception
5. Decoration on the outside of the room door or on the room's window is permitted if it is not in violation of university guidelines, is not a fire hazard, and if the adhering materials do not cause damage as per #7 below.
6. Decorations should not be hung on surrounding walls or in common hallways.
7. Approved adhering materials include straight pins, thumb tacks, or masking tape/painter's tape. Residents should not use 3M command strips, clear Scotch tape, double sided tape, glue guns, or other similar items. Residents may hang room decorations from molding strips. Decorations may be hung with straight pins (on dry wall or plaster walls) or double-sided tape on block walls.
8. Carpet may not be affixed to the floor
9. Televisions or monitors may not be affixed to the walls.
10. Roommates should agree on the decorations in their room, suite or apartment.

Lofted and Bunked Beds

Each residence/scholarship hall has beds that bunk or loft. Most beds have safety railings and built-in ladders on the bed ends. Residents with lofted beds may request height adjustments through a service request to Facilities Services. Ladders may be requested through a Service Request if your bed is located in a space that does not allow access to the bed ends. Bunked beds cannot be modified in height. Residents may NOT bring outside loft kits or build their own lofts. No bed or portions thereof supplied by Student Housing may be removed from the room.

Animals – Service & Emotional Support

Definitions

- a. Emotional Support Animal

An "emotional support animal" ("ESA") is an animal that provides comfort to an individual with a disability upon the recommendation of a healthcare or mental health professional. An emotional support animal does not assist a person with a disability with activities of daily living but rather its role is to live with a student and alleviate the symptoms of an individual's disability to provide equal opportunities to use and enjoy residential life at the University. Emotional Support Animals must remain in the owners assigned room at all times.

b. Service Animal

A service animal is any animal that is individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability, including a physical, sensory, psychiatric, intellectual, or other mental disability. Service animals may accompany its owner anywhere in the residence halls.

c. Pet

A pet is an animal kept for companionship and does not assist an individual with disabilities or act as an emotional support animal. For this reason pets are not covered by this policy and are not allowed in KU Student Housing facilities with the exception of fish.

Owner Care & Handling

- a. Animals must be properly licensed in accordance with all federal, state, and local laws.
- b. Service and Emotional Support Animals must be in good health and have all vaccinations.
- c. Service animals may accompany the owner to any location at any time. Emotional Support Animals may not leave the owners room, with the exception of allowing the animal to relieve itself, and must not create a disturbance while the owner is away from the room.
- d. Service and Emotional Support Animals must be under the control of the owner at all times.
- e. Owners of a Service or Emotional Support Animal will maintain a clean, healthy, and odor free living space.
- e. Owners of a Service or Emotional Support Animal are responsible for cleaning up after your animal's waste, and should carry sufficient and appropriate equipment to clean up after the animal. Waste must be bagged and discarded in waste receptacles located outside of KU facilities.
- f. Owners of a Service or Emotional Support Animal must assure the animal doesn't interfere with the daily routine or activities (ability to sleep, enter or exit the hall, study, etc.) of residents who reside in the hall.
- g. The owner of the animal is financially responsible for any damage caused by the animal. This includes bodily injury or property damage.

Non-Owner Care & Handling

- a. Individuals other than the owner should never touch or handle an animal unless invited to do so.
- b. Individuals other than the owner should not feed the animal.
- c. Individuals other than the owner are not to intentionally startle the animal.
- d. Individuals other than the owner are not to attempt to separate the animal from the owner.

- e. Individuals are not to inquire for details about the owner's disability or reason for having a Service or Emotional Support Animal.

Removal of Approved Animal: KU Student Housing may exclude or remove any animal that:

- a. Poses a direct threat to the health or safety of others,
- b. The animal's presence requires an unreasonable alteration of the University's normal functions,
- c. If the owner consistently fails to comply with the policy governing animals in Student Housing facilities, or
- d. The animal's presence creates an unreasonable and unmanageable disturbance to the community, the student conduct process will be utilized.

Housing Contract Terms - Interpretation of the Contract

The Student Housing Contract is a legal document representing an agreement between you and KU Student Housing. Contracts are not transferable. Reassignment of the contract or subleasing are not permitted.

Eligibility for Occupancy

The contract requires all residents of student housing agree and adhere to all applicable rules and regulations including, but not limited to: (1) the Housing Handbook, (2) the Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities and Conduct for the University of Kansas, (3) the University of Kansas Parking Regulations, (4) the KU Student Housing Safety Poster, and (5) My Resnet User Agreement with Apogee. Please read these publications. You are responsible for abiding by their contents. Persons who have a criminal record involving a felony are not eligible for student housing. The contract requires the resident to be a fulltime student taking 12 undergraduate or nine graduate hours

Under-enrollment:

The contract requires the resident to be a fulltime student taking 12 undergraduate or nine graduate hours. Occasionally, Student Housing grants exceptions for students to remain in on-campus housing with part-time enrollment. Students may email housing@ku.edu or call 785-864-4560 to contact Student Housing with questions.

Not Enrolled

Non-enrolled students are expected to contact KU Student Housing immediately upon loss of student status. Withdrawal from the university does not automatically terminate your housing contract. Charges will continue to accumulate until you have moved out and notified Student Housing. Students may email housing@ku.edu or call 785-864-4560 to contact Student Housing.

Cancellation of the Student Housing Contract

Housing contracts are for the academic year. Cancellation after the start of the academic year is permitted under the following circumstances:

- Loss of student status, withdrawal from the university, or failure to enroll. Students are required to vacate the residence and to cease using residential dining facilities upon withdrawing from the university. Students remaining in the facility or taking meals after their official date of withdrawal from the university must pay for all charges incurred after this date. Federal financial aid cannot be used to pay these charges.
- Assignment to a university sponsored internship, research, or other university program, which requires living away from Lawrence.
- Completion of graduation requirements during the term of the contract.
- Marriage. Proof of marriage must be presented.

- Unusual and compelling circumstances which may entitle the resident to special consideration.

Residents seeking a contract cancellation must submit their request to KU Student Housing. A detailed written explanation and documentation may be required.

Requirements after cancellation of contract

Refer to your contract for specific charges related to cancellation of the student housing contract. Residents are required to vacate the residence and will be financially responsible for any use of their residential dining meal plan upon cancelling their contract and/or withdrawal from the university. Residents remaining in the facility after their official date of withdrawal must pay for all charges incurred after this date. Federal financial aid cannot be used to pay these charges.

For the cancellation schedule, please visit: <https://housing.ku.edu/cancellation-policy-and-charges>

Failure to Vacate

Residents are responsible for personal property at all times. When residents have not vacated as expected (internal transfers as well as the end of a contract period) or have not removed personal property, Student Housing staff will make a reasonable attempt to contact the residents. Residents who have not vacated as expected, will be charged $50 a day, in addition to the daily rate for each day they or their items remain. If after 48 hours, the resident has not vacated, personal property will be removed and stored at the resident's expense.

Residents will be billed $20 an hour per employee involved in the removal of personal property ($50 minimum), and a monthly storage fee of $50. Personal property removed by KU Student Housing staff will be stored for 30 days. After 30 days, the items will be considered abandoned and donated to charity or discarded. KU Student Housing is not liable for damage to, or loss of, property that might occur during removal or disposal. Residents will be billed for all costs incurred in restoration of the unit to usable space.

Contract Payments

Residents receive e-bills to their KU email from Student Account Services. For all questions about university payment options, visit student-account-services.ku.edu.

Break Periods (Residence and Scholarship Halls)

The residence and scholarship hall academic year contract covers academic semesters. Winter break housing is available for an additional charge. Meal service is determined by KU Dining, and is not guaranteed. For information about break period meals, visit dining.ku.edu.

Residents interested in break housing should make reservations in advance whenever possible. Break housing may not be available for residents without a reservation

Contract Renewal

Residence hall, scholarship hall, and apartment contracts are for one academic year. Returning residents may sign a contract and choose rooms and roommates before new students.

Requesting To Move: A Change in Room, Suite or Apartment Assignment

Residents who wish to change to another space may request to do so by completing the room change application on their KU Student Housing Portal, located on the resident's myku portal. If space is deemed to be available by Student Housing staff, an offer to move will be sent to the resident's KU email.

If the resident does not move (including checking out of your current hall) within the timeframe provided by Student Housing staff, they may be charged for both spaces for the duration of time both spaces were unavailable to other residents. Residents' housing bill will be adjusted to reflect any change in price from the previous living space to the new living space.

For more information on changing an assignment, residents should visit:

https://housing.ku.edu/change_space

Moving into or within Scholarship Halls

Internal transfers: For internal transfers, students should email housing@ku.edu. Assignments staff will work to determine if space is available.

Residents moving into the Scholarship Halls from another community will need to sign a Scholarship Hall contract. For more information, visit this website:

<https://housing.ku.edu/scholarship-halls/how-to-apply>

Room Freeze Periods

There are times when residents will not be allowed to change rooms due to occupancy maintenance needs. For more information, contact Student Housing at housing@ku.edu.

Room Readiness

If a vacancy exists within a unit, that vacancy must be ready to receive an occupant at any time. This means the existing resident/s should not utilize the vacant space, store belongings, or expand into the vacant space.

Vacancies

KU Student Housing has the right to assign, reassign, and adjust the occupancy of rooms. If a vacancy occurs in your room, residents may receive a consolidation letter detailing one or more of the following options:

1. If space allows in your residence hall space, retain the room as a single and pay the single rate unless the space is needed to solve an occupancy overage. The option to retain your room as a single is not available in Stouffer Place or Jayhawker Towers.
2. Remain in the room with the understanding that the vacant space will be assigned as soon as a new student contract or a current resident indicates an interest in moving to that vacant space. The room should be prepared to receive a roommate at any time.
 - a. The resident may be required to consolidate to another partially occupied room so a completely vacant room will be available to fulfill occupancy needs. Note: Special occupancy considerations apply to suites and rooms with bathrooms. Corbin Hall triple rooms will not be assigned as double rooms.

Consolidation:

Depending on current or projected occupancy, the resident may not have the option to stay in a partially occupied unit. If this is the case, the resident may be required to consolidate by moving to another partially occupied room on your floor.

Residents who do not take action per the consolidation letter will be assessed the single room rate for the remainder of the contract period.

Not all options will be available consistently throughout all facilities at any given time. Student Housing staff will determine if any of the aforementioned options and requirements are appropriate based on current and projected occupancy levels at any given time.

Scholarship Halls

Vacancies will be filled as they become available. There is no single room rate option in the scholarship halls.

Apartments

If an apartment is not at full occupancy during a contract period, new residents will be placed in available space. If time permits, the apartment living staff will provide advance notice to the current roommates. It is the responsibility of the current occupants to ensure that the empty bed space(s) is ready for the arrival of a new resident. If a change of apartment is desired by residents, those involved must discuss the request with apartment living staff. If all parties agree that a change is necessary and if the space is available, such changes may be made. No changes will be considered until the third week of the new semester, except in extreme emergencies.

Housing Contract Terms - Interpretation of the Contract

The Student Housing Contract is a legal document representing an agreement between you and KU Student Housing. Contracts are not transferable. Assignment of the contract and subleasing are not permitted.

Student Housing Policies and Handbook

Residents of transitional and guest housing are expected to read, understand, and adhere to the Student Housing Handbook. Residents are subject to removal and/or formal eviction processes if actions are not in compliance with the handbook.

Eligibility

Transitional housing is designed to provide temporary housing for new faculty and staff. Residents must hold at least a half-time faculty appointment, or an appointed administrative position. Full-time faculty and staff are limited to one year's occupancy. Post doctoral researchers and visiting scholars are eligible for Transitional housing in Sunflower Apartments.

Guest housing is designed to provide short stay housing for guests of the university. This may include, but is not limited to guests of university affiliated departments.

Check-in Every resident must register with KU Student Housing staff upon initial occupancy. KU Student Housing will communicate the check-in process to the contracting party, typically through email, over the phone, or in person. As part of check-in, residents may be asked to:

- Verify registration information
- Sign for receipt of keys,
- Complete and return an apartment/room inventory form
- Provide an emergency contact name and contact information in the event the resident is missing,
- Receive other important information.

Effect of Withdrawal on Your Student Housing Contract

Transitional housing residents must complete and submit the on-line Intent to Vacate form 30 days before move-out. Student Housing staff will then review the form and email the guest if necessary.

Guest housing residents will receive information regarding vacating their unit through direct communication with the contracting unit.

Check out

To check out of transitional housing, complete an online Intent to Vacate form. You will arrange a preliminary apartment inspection where you will be advised of any items that need attention. You then receive an e-mail confirmation of your intent to vacate the apartment and further instructions regarding inspections, check out date and time, and cleaning and check out lists.

- Express checkout: You pick up a checkout packet from the KU Student Housing office in the basement of Corbin Hall before vacating. Complete and return the forms and your keys to the Student Housing Office. A KU Student Housing staff member notes any damages and completes a Loss Damage report.

To check out of guest housing, please return keys to the KU Student Housing Office.

Failure to Vacate

Residents and their guests are responsible for personal property at all times. When residents have not vacated as scheduled (internal transfers as well as the end of a contract period) or have not removed personal property, Student Housing staff will make a reasonable attempt to contact the residents. Residents who have not vacated as scheduled or at the end of a contract period will be charged $50 a day in addition to the daily rate for each day they remain. If after 48 hours, the resident has not vacated, personal property will be removed and stored at the resident's expense.

Residents will be billed $20 an hour per employee involved in removal of personal property ($50 minimum), and a monthly storage fee of $50. Personal property removed by KU Student Housing staff will be stored for 30 days. After 30 days, the items will be considered abandoned and donated to charity or discarded. KU Student Housing is not liable for damage to or loss of property that might occur during removal or disposal. Residents will be billed for all costs incurred in restoration of the unit to usable space.

Contract Renewal

All contracts for transitional housing are subject to renewal each spring. A new contract must be signed by every resident by March 30. If, for the following year, a rate increase is approved or if there is a significant change in the contract, all residents will be notified. Residents who do not wish to renew by March 30 must submit an Intent to Vacate form and are presumed to be leaving no later than June 30. Apartments for which an Intent to Vacate form is received will be assigned to another resident. Residents not returning for fall semester should vacate by June 30. Residents must furnish photo identification any time a contract is modified. KU Student Housing reserves the right to deny renewal of any contract.

Guests wishing to extend their stay must contact Student Housing with their request. Housing staff will determine if the request is approved or denied based on availability and occupancy needs.

Contract Payments

For transitional housing, monthly payment is due the 15th of each month.

For guest housing, payment is due upon use as communicated by Student Housing staff.

Operations

Maintenance and Facilities Services

KU Facilities Services staff members will make repairs to guest housing. Please report issues promptly. You may submit a work request by calling 785-864-4770 or online at www.facilities.ku.edu. To complete the online form, use your KU online ID and password. Submitting a work request gives Facilities Services staff permission to enter your space to inspect or correct the issue. You can expect that staff members will knock and announce themselves before entry. You can also expect to receive notification that they have been in your room by a hangtag on your door. Facilities Services staff members are available to respond to emergencies at all times.

Air Conditioning/Heating

Transitional Housing: Central air conditioning units are provided in Sunflower Apartment duplexes and the University Guest House by Student Housing. The thermostat controls the apartment temperature. Do not turn the dial past 80 degrees. Do not cover or hang anything from the thermostat. Furnaces should be serviced only by KU Facilities Services personnel. Keep the access to the mechanical room clear at all times. The pilot light should be left on at all times to prevent moisture build-up inside the furnace which would cause it to rust. If a hole rusts through the firebox, gas fumes may escape. All furnaces will be checked and serviced annually. Filters will be changed at that time. Please keep the cold air return vent in the living room wall open and clear of furniture. This provides the necessary cold air return to the furnace for proper heat circulation. Blocking the return vent reduces the heating efficiency and will cause the furnace motor to burn out. It is the resident's responsibility to ensure adequate heat to prevent freezing of pipes during holidays or any other period when the resident is absent from the apartment.

Guest Housing: Thermostats are centrally located in the living space of apartments and can be adjusted for heating and cooling. Units are serviced and filters are changed periodically by Facilities staff. Please do not block air vents.

Internet, Cable, Phones

Transitional Housing: Internet, cable, and phone technology is not included by KU Student Housing

Guest Housing: Internet and cable access is provided by KU Student Housing. Directions to access this will be provided in check-in process. Phone access is not included.

Laundry

Transitional Housing: Sunflower apartments - the laundry is the basement of building 5. You will receive a key to access laundry in the check-in process.

Guest Housing: Laundry is in each guest housing unit

Utilities

Transitional Housing: All utility charges for Sunflower Apartments are paid by the resident; KU Student Housing is not responsible for any utility charges accrued while you have possession of the apartment. Each apartment is metered separately. It is the resident's responsibility to contact the utility companies and have accounts set up in your name before occupancy. A security deposit may be required by the utility company.

Guest Housing: All utilities are included in the guest housing rate and will be paid by KU Student Housing.

Pest Control

Routine pest control service is conducted once a month for transitional and guest apartments. A schedule is available at the KU Student Housing Office located in the basement of Corbin Hall. Participation in pest control for these areas is mandatory. Additional pest control treatment may be necessary.

All Student Housing residents may request non-routine pest control as needed. Residents will receive instruction for preparing their space for the pest control treatment. Residents are expected to have the area prepared by the time of the appointment. Apartment residents may be asked to vacate their premises for two to four hours. Residents will be notified of any "non-routine" treatment at least 24 hours in advance.

All residents should take a role in pest prevention by keeping their space clean. Wash dishes and utensils immediately after using. Store foods properly, dispose of trash properly, and report pests immediately.

Recycling/Trash Disposal

Recycling and trash receptacles are provided on the in transitional and guest housing. Residents should dispose of trash and recycling in the dumpster located adjacent to the transitional and guest housing units. Residents in any living unit may be charged for the improper disposal of trash.

Safety & Security

Residents' Responsibility for a Safer Environment

Residents and guests have a responsibility to each other for maintaining a safe and secure environment. Exterior doors should never be propped without prior authorization from Student Housing.

Tampering with fire equipment, blocking corridors, covering emergency lighting and other actions could hamper a safe evacuation in the event of emergency. Residents should remain with their guests at all times. Any suspicious activities should be reported to staff members or Public Safety. Locking your door is essential to your safety.

KU Student Housing provides policies and procedures to help residents and guests make good decisions about the safety and security of their communities. Safety is everyone's responsibility. Student housing expects each community member to abide by the policies and procedures outlined in the KU Student Housing Handbook, and report any safety and security concerns or policy violations to staff members.

Natural Gas Smells in Transitional Housing (Sunflower Apartments)

Call Facilities Services (785-864-4770), the KU Student Housing office, or the staff member on duty if there is a problem with the furnace or water heater in your apartment. If you notice a natural gas smell, notify staff and leave the apartment. Do not attempt to: locate the source, open doors or windows, turn lights on or off, or smoke.

Room Entry/Search

Residents have a right to privacy and are protected against unreasonable searches of their rooms. Student housing staff may enter a resident's room, suite or apartment without notice in emergencies where imminent danger to life, safety, health, or property is reasonably feared. A resident who submits a service request has invited staff to enter to perform requested maintenance.

In order to maintain an environment that facilitates academic success for other residents, staff may also enter a room to turn off an alarm, stereo, television, or other items causing a disturbance after they have been unable to locate the residents.

Front Door

Transition Housing: Entrance doors have been equipped with a deadbolt lock. Residents should deadbolt the apartments each time they leave. Additional locks may not be installed. A $50 fee is charged for misplaced or lost keys.

Room or Apartment lock-out procedures and policies

KU Student Housing strongly encourages residents to carry their keys at all times, to lock their doors, and to take responsibility for their own security.

Transitional Housing:

When locked out of the apartment, residents should go to the KU Student Housing Office in the basement of Corbin Hall during business hours. If after hours, residents should contact the staff member on duty using the contact information provided at the time of check in.

Guest Housing:

When locked out of the room or apartment, the resident may call or visit the Stouffer Place Apartment's front desk and receive a "lock-out" key.

When needing assistance:

- To receive a lock out key, the resident must present the KU Card. If the card is not available, questions verifying personal information may be asked.
- Only residents of the room or apartment may request access.
- A lock out key may be checked out for a maximum of 2 hours. Late return may result in a $50 lock change charge.
- There is a free "lock-out" each semester. Each subsequent lock-out results in a $20 service charge.

Emergency

In the event of a fire, medical, or other emergency, call 911. Then contact the service desk at your complex or the staff member on call. Facilities emergencies should be reported to a staff member immediately, including broken pipes, water leaks, flooded toilet, broken windows, broken heaters, and electrical short-circuits.

Fire drill

An unannounced fire drill, required by the State Fire Marshal and in accordance with the 2006 International Fire code, will take place within the first 10 days of the fall and spring semesters. Evacuation routes are posted on the back of the residents' doors. A second drill each semester will also occur. One of the two drills will happen at night.

Fire emergency

When the fire alarm sounds, every resident is required to leave the building using the nearest stairway exit. First, feel your door from top to bottom (follow this procedure for all closed doors you encounter).

If the door feels cool:

- Crouch low and open door slowly. Close door quickly if heavy smoke or fire is present.
- If visibility permits, take your key and close your door.
- Evacuate using stairway. Stay as low as possible if there is smoke (crawl if necessary).
- If you encounter heavy smoke in a stairwell, go back and use another set of stairs.
- Never use the elevator during a fire alarm.
- Return to the building only when officials tell you it is safe.

If the door feels hot:

- Do not open the door.
- If possible, call 911 and report your situation and location. Stay off the phone after calling 911 as fire officials may try to reach you.
- Wedge wet towels or clothing under the door to keep smoke out.
- Keep a soaked towel over your head.
- Open window and hang out a bed sheet to call attention to your location. Close window on sheet if necessary to keep smoke from entering through the window.
- Stay low until help arrives.

Reporting a Fire

- In the event of fire, you should immediately activate a building fire alarm, which alerts building staff and all residents of impending danger.
- Call 911 to report the fire and notify your complex staff of the location of the fire.
- Evacuate, if possible, and stay away from the building.

Smoke Detectors

A smoke detector is installed in every transitional and guest unit, and operates electrically. Individual unit smoke detectors will not activate general complex alarms. In most buildings, smoke detectors are wired to the building systems and will activate if dislodged. Do not test or tamper with smoke detectors. Smoke detector problems should be reported immediately.

Tampering with Fire Safety Equipment

Tampering with fire safety equipment or purposely activating a false alarm violates state and local laws. Either can be considered cause for a resident's removal. Smoke alarms and sprinkler heads are considered fire safety equipment and should not be tampered with. Residents who tamper with or unnecessarily discharge fire extinguishers face disciplinary action according to the sanctions policy outlined above.

Tornado

Be alert for these danger signs (generally March through September): severe thunderstorms with frequent lightning, heavy rain, hail, noise, funnel clouds, strong winds, or power failure. The local office of the National Weather Service issues weather bulletins to local authorities plus local TV and radio stations. Lawrence is located in Douglas County, Kansas.

Tornado Watch or Warning

A "watch" indicates that conditions are conducive to the development of a tornado. A "warning" indicates that a tornado has been detected and may be approaching. If a tornado warning is issued, or the city warning sirens have been activated, take the following precautions:

Seek shelter immediately in the lower levels of the building or an internal hallway. Stay away from windows and glass enclosures.

- Do not use elevators, use stairwells.
- Remain in shelter area until the "all clear" is communicated by student housing staff.
- Cooperate fully with student housing staff, who have your safety as their first priority.
